CLASSROOM BLOG PARTICIPATION

Parents and guardians learn about their child's daily learning through a classroom blog that includes writing and photos and is accessed with an unsearchable link. Teachers document classroom activities, highlight emerging learning and share upcoming events in this important communication tool. If there are extenuating circumstances that might keep you from allowing your child to be pictured in the classroom blog please contact the director to discuss your concerns.

The following are "opt-out" District permissions. Please only initial if you DO NOT give permission for your child.

MEDIA PERMISSION

Classroom activities, student work and events sponsored by the School District of Clayton are occasionally documented, photographed or videotaped by school representatives for use in District publications, websites, mobile apps or on official social media platforms. If for any reason you DENY PERMISSION TO HAVE YOUR CHILD PHOTOGRAPHED, INTERVIEWED, OR VIDEOTAPED OR HAVE THEIR WORK SHARED for these purposes, please initial below.

_____ DO NOT include my child or their work in any interview, photograph, or videotape intended for use by the District. This denial shall not apply to pictures or video of unidentified students in public areas of the school property or at school sponsored activities or events.
